

Problem: You need to reduce the risk of repetitive motion injuries in your organization.

Are your employees using a hand-held plastic tape dispenser to seal your cartons? If so, they are at risk for repetitive motion injuries. These injuries can have direct costs to your bottom line in productivity losses, absenteeism and medical/disability expenses.

Solution: Switch from plastic tape to paper water-activated tape (WAT).

Unlike plastic tape, WAT is applied with either a manual tape dispenser or electric tape dispenser. Your employees will no longer be at risk for repetitive motion injury related to the use of handheld tape dispensers.

Plastic Tape vs. Paper Tape

Hand-held tape dispensers are a risk to employees.

Switch to paper water-activated tape— an easy way to ensure employee safety.

Why Better Packages?

To use WAT, you need a water-activated tape dispenser. To maximize productivity and cost-effectiveness, you need to choose the right dispenser and manufacturer. Better Packages dispensers are quite simply, the best dispensers on the market.
